Dear Babe:

Many thanks for your letter of congratulations. There is nothing that has made me feel so proud as your confidence in me and the help that you gave me, without which I do not think I could have received a commission of the type that has been granted me.

So far as your paper in Chicago is concerned, I have already talked to my successors who will be Sylvan Kaufman as Acting General Manager and Sidney Natkin as Assistant. You know that ~~both of~~ their feelings - particularly in the case of Sidney - are more than friendly. Additionally, Jack Morrison enjoys the warm regard and affection of everyone in our organization and has done a splendid job in maintaining liaison between our two businesses. Therefore, I think we both may look forward to a continuation of pleasant relationship even in our joint absence.

I am sorry Mrs. Meigs will not be in Washington when we are there, but Carola and I hope that you will have an evening free, if I should have any time off, so that we can be together.

With kindest personal regards.

Sincerely,

Mr. Merrill C. Meigs,

IN REPLY REFER TO:

May 5, 1942

Dear Major:

Your telegram received. My heartiest congratulations! I feel that I have done my country a great service in helping to get a man of your ability into an officer's uniform. I may have hurt my newspaper and my own interests by doing this. Perhaps you ask why --. Well, I am still being paid my salary by the Hearst organization.

I believe with you in Chicago that the paper would get a better break than it would with you away from Chicago. If you have heard the story about the colored boy who was going to have to fight a bear, who said "Lord, if you can't help me don't help the bear." So, before you leave tell the boys to at least give the Herald-American an even break in your absence.

Mrs. Meigs is going back to Chicago on Thursday, so she won't be here when you come for your final instructions. I hope to be here and shall look forward to sitting down with you before you make the big dive.

My kindest regards to Mrs. Meigs and yourself.

Sincerely yours,

Merrill C. Meigs

P. S. I have dropped a note to McNamee telling him that if the Army has no rules against it, and you are agreeable, that we might run a little story about your commission and suggested that he call you.

Dear ~~Mr. Mandel~~:

Subsequent to the receipt of your letter I heard from Harry Hopkins who mentioned your desire to be of service to our country. It is with genuine regret that I inform you that as a result of your physical examination, the Bureau of Navigation has found it necessary at this time not to approve your request for an I-V(S) commission. You are probably aware that your eyes and blood pressure do not approach the requirements of the Service for commission.

Please accept my appreciation for your past services to the Navy and the country. We shall not hesitate to call on you again when and if the circumstances arise.

Sincerely,

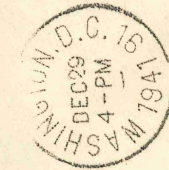

Mr. Leon Mandel

ON BOARD THE SOUTHERN CROSS

Dear Carola and Mister Mandel - Truly disappointed not to be able to accept your invitation and miss the fun I know we'll have - but we are going through at one o'clock on our way to Bra Lenn - from there to Kassar around December's beginning. If your coming towards the Bahamas we would all be delighted to see you. We may return to Fern after the New Year - so you can see we enjoyed it there.

We were quite thrilled to see the "Lacda".
Perhaps will anchor near each other a third time.
Mr. Wm. - Gen, Gen & Sister Ellen send greetings to all on board - not forgetting Louis - Macqueter W. G.

My dear Leon:-

This is intended to confirm my part of our conversation by telephone the other evening when you informed me that your loyalty to the United States had been questioned officially and that the doubt seemed to have been raised by the fact that some of the people with whom you associated while on a cruise to South and Central America in your yacht, "The Carola", during 1941 were Axis minded. You stated that the doubt had been reported from sources within the Navy Department.

I have some knowledge of your activities from May to September 1941 since during that time you were carrying out directives that I had prepared as Commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District. These directives were for you to gather information which was believed to be more readily available to you as a cruising yachtsman than to an openly accredited representative. However the Department of State representatives in the countries you were asked to visit were informed of your identity and the purpose of your operations in order that your position might be understood by them. In this I refer to the United States Department of State, of course.

An allotment of money was made available to you through the Office of Naval Intelligence which, if used, would have paid some of the extra expense of the expedition in which you were engaged. However you declined to use any of this money and bore the whole expense from your private purse. I remember that in a conversation with me after the cruise was terminated you stated that you derived considerable personal pleasure in the feeling that possibly you had been able to contribute some small service to your country.

The reports which you made and submitted to the Commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District have been made part of the Official records of the Office of Naval Intelligence and will bear evidence of your care in their preparation and of your zeal and ingenuity in carrying out the directives that had been prepared for you. In these reports you commented on certain people in the different countries that you visited and gave your opinion as to their proper classification from the viewpoint of their politics. While you were in Panama I knew of your activities through the local papers and by personal observation. Some of the people whom you contacted there, such as the Spanish Minister(El Conde de Bailen, subsequently declared hombre non gracia by the Government of Panama) were known to be under Axis influence and in frequent conferences with the German Minister. Your reports of information obtained from these sources are also on record and will show that you were getting information through the contacts while at the same time cleverly concealing the fact that you had any connection with the Department of Naval Intelligence.

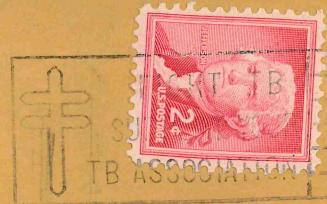

When changed conditions made it inadvisable to continue these cruises you were informed of the fact and letters of appreciation were forwarded to you. I am not aware of any communication originating in the Fifteenth Naval District that mentioned your loyalty since that had been taken as a matter of course. I trust that the investigation which you tell me is now being made will confirm that fact and remove from your mind any regret that you may now entertain for having undertaken this secret mission which you tell me that you believe to be the cause of it all.

Very sincerely yours
